SMITH BROS FLOORS

What we need from you

Six things to get your new system running. Reply with whatever you have, in any format. A photo or a forwarded email is fine.

1. Your team

- Name, role, email and phone for everyone who will use the dashboard
- Who should get the alert when a new lead comes in
- Who answers the phone and the emails, and how they sign off (for example “Paul, Smith Bros Floors”)

Why: So the right people have access and the right person is alerted.

2. How you price jobs

- Your usual price per square foot for each job type (new installation, sand and refinish, restoration, commercial) and for each material you install
- Minimum job price, and any extras (stairs, furniture moving, old floor removal)
- Deposit amount and your payment terms
- Whether the rough estimate we show customers should be a range, and how wide

Why: So the rough estimate customers see on the website is accurate and you approve it.

3. Areas you serve

- The cities or regions you work in
- Anywhere you do not go, or places that cost extra

Why: So we can flag leads outside your area before you spend time on them.

4. Your current documents

- Your work contract, and your policy and liability agreement (Word or PDF)
- Any quote or estimate template you use today
- Your logo, if you have a better copy than the one we have

Why: So the contracts the dashboard creates use your exact wording.

5. Customer list

- A spreadsheet or export of past and current customers: name, email, phone, address, type of job and date
- Anything you know about how you got their email (for example, they hired you or signed up)

Why: So your existing customers are in the dashboard from day one.

6. The business inbox

- The email address customers write to (and whether it is Gmail or Google Workspace)
- Five to ten real replies you have sent to customers, so the assistant learns your voice
- The questions customers ask most, with your answers, and anything you never want promised in writing

Why: So the assistant can sort your email and draft replies that sound like you. It only drafts. You approve everything. We will walk you through giving access. Please do not send passwords.
